PROGRAM: A Trip to the Corning Glass Museum,

Slide Show and Presentation by Ed and Sandra Martin

SPECIAL: Ice Cream Social

Just because we all love ice cream, PROG is having an Ice Cream Social in September. And while we are eating ice cream, we will be discussing the Convention, reviewing what we like and don't like and filling out a survey to help make it better! Join PROG for this entertaining event!

BOARD MEETING:

NOTES FROM THE PRESIDENT

HELLO to PROG members.

First off, I would like to thank you for electing me as your President, and feel assured I will make sure that we work towards having great conventions and exciting monthly programs. Thanks also to all the new Board Members and Appointees.

I would also like to thank everybody that attended the Annual PROG Picnic held this year at Antique Powerland in Brooks. Special thanks goes out to Mark Moore for getting our picnic table arrangements and for having the various museums open. The food was great, conversation was fun, and Powerland was perfect. KFC was the main dish, but thank you to everybody for bringing their dishes. It could not have been a better day.

I don't know about the rest of the club, but I'm sure looking forward to having a break in temperature in the Northwest, but we will have a fall schedule of guest speakers that will sizzle the mind.

Beginning with the September meeting, you may pick up a meeting agenda when you sign in at the greeters desk. This will provide us a meeting format.

As your President, I am looking forward to educational presentations, beautiful displays and fun activities, fellowship, our upcoming Sale at our new venue, Portland Meadows, and to finish off the sentence—FOOD!!

Respectfully,
Randy David
Your PROG President

CHRISTINE PALMER

Chris Palmer, owner of Christine Palmer & Associates, the company that produces America's Largest Antique and Collectible Shows, America's Largest Christmas Bazaar has passed away.

She was diagnosed with cancer after the July 2017 Antique and Collectible Show, and she passed on August 31, 2017.

Her husband, Chuck Palmer, and her staff will continue producing the shows.

MICHAEL WYSE

Michael Wyse, longtime Rain of Glass Sale dealer, passed away on Sunday, July 23, 2017.

Michael and his wife, Leegh, shared the large booth in the middle of the hall, just to the right of the door prize table at the Sale. Their glass was wonderful, rare and beautiful, and a treat to see.

He was a 30-year employee/franchisee for Domino's Pizza, a referee/umpire for the American Youth Soccer Organization and a scoutmaster.

He is survived by Leegh, their three sons, eight grandchildren and three siblings.

SUE FRYE

Former PROG member Suzanne "Sue" Frye passed away on July 8, 2017.

She served in the U.S. Marine Corps, retiring after six years. She worked at Bales Thriftway in Bakery Sales, and was a Forest Grove Elkette.

Sue is survived by her life partner Joyce Mitchell, nine siblings and 13 nieces and nephews.

SHOW AND TELL

Dianne Foster—Fenton Carnival Glass epergne with the 1980s-90s oval mark, possibly Fenton for Levay (a.k.a. Intaglio Levay Glass Company); clear glass jug, c. 1910-25; gold pigskin glass ashtray; figural dog in top hat, probably a candleholder; glass sherbet that goes in a metal holder; decanter and goblet with enamel decoration, probably Bohemian/Czech.

Ed Martin—red comport, no maker's mark but possibly sold by L.G. Wright.

Sandra Millius—1880s EAPG canary bowl from the "ABC Period" (Amber, Blue, Canary); 1930s cologne with cut stars, made in Czechoslovakia.

Carole Bess White—Vanity set with tray, two colognes and a powder jar, English or European.

Jean Zitzer—hand-formed vase marked ZBS Czech Republic that she purchased at Albertina Kerr.

FAIRY LIGHTS with ELMER HEFFNER

Fairy Lamps, or Fairy Lights as some call them, became popular in the 1880s-90s. They are a small, usually glass, candle cup with a base and a chimney, or shade. English candle maker Samuel Clarke patented a glass cup with a dome in 1885 as a means to sell his candles. As the popularity of Fairy Lamps grew, American manufacturers began producing them. They remained in use through the 1920s, and then the Fenton Glass Company revived them in the 1950s.

Elmer showed many examples from his collection, assisted by Randy David.

PROG'S SUMMER PICNIC

AUGUST 12, 2017 AT POWERLAND HERITAGE PARK IN BROOKS, OREGON

Powerland is a very interesting park. It is a 62-acre campus with several museums on it, including Antique Caterpillar Machinery, Oregon Electric Railway, Oregon Vintage Machinery, a Blacksmith Shop and many more. Plus, the grounds have several antique tractors right out in the open, so you can get up close and really see what they are like. It was a perfect place for our picnic.
